About Institute:

This college is a trailblazer in the district, dedicated to providing exceptional educational opportunities for female students. It offers a diverse range of programs through its two faculties: the government-aided Arts faculty and the self-financing Science faculty, which together feature a total of 13 departments. Notably, all postgraduate programs are self-financed. At the undergraduate level, students can explore their interests in eight departments within the Arts faculty, including English, Hindi, Sanskrit, Music, Urdu, Sociology, Education, and History. The Science faculty offers five departments: Zoology, Botany, Chemistry, Physics, and Mathematics. For those seeking to advance their education further, the college provides master's programs in four key disciplines: Hindi, Sociology, Education, and History. Through its steadfast commitment to empowering women via education, this institution plays an essential role in fostering community development and growth.
